Local Transport in a Global Context

Rising fuel prices, the credit crunch and climate change... What can transport and land use planners do to make a difference?

In 2008 TRICS in partnership with RTPi celebrates 20 years of its Transport and Development Conference. This year, the world's changing economic and environmental climate has meant that the transport and development industry has rarely been out of the media spotlight. Through plenary and parallel sessions, workshops, study tours and case studies we will look at how we can shape our localities to adapt to, or impact on, these global issues.

During the 2 days we will hear from MPs on how national transport and planning policy is adapting to global changes and how this impacts at the local level. Speakers from DfT and DCLG will present on current thinking, public attitudes and the effects of climate change and rising fuel prices on transport and development. Private sector developers and urban designers will provide their view on the current development and housing market and the role of transport. A series of workshops will provide opportunities to discuss specific issues such as 'consultation for everyone', 'residential parking' and 'legal perspectives on public inquiries'. A final session will draw this thinking together by looking at a series of award winning urban areas and developments from the UK and Ireland that have successfully embraced innovative transport and development solutions.

Come and join us at our new venue in Central London to listen, discuss, study and share your ideas on 'local transport in a global context'.

Tuesday 25th November

- Janet O'Neill, President RTPi (Chair)*

0830-1000 : Registration and Coffee

1000-1130 : Session 1

Setting the National Context - Transport and Land Use Policy

Views, reflections and debate from the main political parties on the current developments in transport and land use policy.

- Jim Fitzpatrick MP, Parliamentary Under Secretary of State (Invited)
- Rt. Hon. Theresa Villiers MP, Shadow Secretary of State for Transport (Invited)
- Rt. Hon. Norman Baker MP, Shadow Secretary of State for Transport

1150-1300 : Session 2

The Global Context - How Does What Is Happening Globally Affect Us Locally?

Hear from climate change and economy experts on how transport can affect and be affected by the global issues we are facing. How are the public and businesses responding to the problems reported in the media each day?

- Steven Norris, TfL Board (Invited)
- Lee Smith, Senior Research Manager, Department for Transport

1400-1515 : Session 3 or W4: Wembley Tour Travel Plans - Do They Deliver?

Reservations about travel plans have been borne out of a lack of monitoring and hard evidence about their effectiveness. In 2008, monitoring methodologies are emerging and evidence is beginning to challenge sceptical thinking. Hear how travel plans have been monitored with some unexpected results.

- Bronwen Fisher, Community Travel Manager - Businesses and Development, Surrey County Council
- Guy Houston, Director of Finance and Corporate Services, Transport Scotland
- Ian Smith, Head of Stakeholder Relationships, Highways Agency
- Paul Emmerson, Head of Transport Modelling, TRL

1540-1700 : Workshops Delivering Local Transport

W1: Implementing Parking Standards

Debate with the experts about the emerging different approaches for implementing parking standards in residential areas.

- Bob White, Transport and Development Business Manager, Kent Highway Services
- Stephen Hardy, Principal Planner, Dorset County Council

W2: Public Inquiries from a Legal Perspective

A panel of legal experts give their perspective, experience and feedback on key current transport & planning-related matters considered at recent Public Inquiries by PINS, particularly in relation to the evolution of Transport Assessment and Travel Planning under the national DfT / CLG Guidance on Transport Assessment.

- Michael Gallimore, Head of Planning, Lovells LLP
- Simon Ricketts, Partner, Head of Planning & Environment Group, SJ Berwin
- Stephen Ashworth, Head of Planning, DentonWildeSapte

W3: Consultation and Engagement - How Do We Reach Everyone?

Climate change is a challenge facing everyone but how can we make everyone aware and influence their behaviour? This workshop will discuss how we can maximise the potential for change at every level of society.

- Penny Gane, Director, Greengem

W4: Study Tour of Access to Wembley Stadium (lasts 3 hours 1400-1700)

A walking tour with Phil Rankmore (Head of Major Projects at the London Borough of Brent). Phil was instrumental in planning the current access arrangements for Wembley Stadium and will lead a tour of the area showing how transport to the stadium was planned and is now managed on major event days. (The study tour does not include a tour of Wembley Stadium.)

W5: Transport and development policy: Tools to support an integrated approach

The ever broader context of transport and development policy-making requires decision-makers to consider a growing range of linkages and impacts, including demographic trends, housing and commercial development, economic performance, congestion and climate change impacts. This session will explore the challenges and opportunities of delivering the information, tools and analysis required.

- Speakers from: WSP - Policy and Research, Cambridge

1900 : Drinks Reception followed by Conference Dinner

Wednesday 26th November

- Professor Glenn Lyons, Director of the Centre for Transport & Society, University of the West of England, Bristol (Chair)

0830-0945 : Registration and Coffee

0945-1130 : Session 4

Planning and Strategic Development
The current environmental and economic situation presents many challenges to the development industry. How are the public and private sectors responding to these global issues and what is the role for integrated land use and transport?

- Jim Redwood, Planning Consultant and Director, JR Planning Ltd
- Rynd Smith, Head of Policy, Royal Town Planning Institute

1145-1300 : Session 5
