

Transport Planning Society

Photography Completion 2017

Following the success of last year's competition, TPS are once again running what we hope will become an annual photography competition, with the aim of expanding our database of transport-related images.

All you need do is submit up to 6 transport planning images, accompanied by no more than 50 words each.

Photographs relating to any mode of travel can be submitted, with subjects including infrastructure, vehicles, landscapes and human interest. All we ask is that you hold Copyright to the images, and are willing to grant TPS a license to use them in online and in future publications / publicity material.

Last year we awarded three cash prizes of £100 each, and are able to make a similar number of awards this year.
