Transport Planning Day – Edinburgh

As part of our Transport Planning Day events Keith Gowenlock, Jacobs, will present details of the Edinburgh City Centre Transformation Project.

Keith will outline the methodology and the outputs from this high-profile objectives-driven transformation project designed to set the strategy and associated delivery plan for the future of the City Centre in Edinburgh. He will examine how a scenario-based approach has been combined with a robust and imaginative approach to data, appraisal and engagement to generate and assess different but transformational outcomes for a city centre set within wider City, Regional and National policy contexts and uncertainties.

Following the talk there will be an opportunity for questions and a pub quiz organised by Jacobs. This is an opportunity to hear about an interesting project, network with fellow professionals, learn about opportunities in transport planning and get competitive. It's an evening not to be missed!

Refreshments will be provided.

This event is open to all of those working or interested in working in Transport Planning. Please confirm your place by contacting David Collins (David.Collins1@jacobs.com)

When contacting David please let him know if you intend to join the quiz and whether you already have a team (5 or 6 people per team) or if you would like to be allocated a team.
